

Title: George Washington

George Washington was born on February, 22nd, 1732. He had seven brothers and sisters. He lived in a plantation. He was very honest. When he accidentally cut down his father's favourite cherry tree, he apologized immediately. His father was surprised to see such an honest boy, and forgave him at once.

George Washington was taught at home by his father. He was very clever. His father and mother's names are Augustine and Mary Washington. When he was sixteen, he became a surveyor. A surveyor is someone who measures land and places. Then, he joined an army. Later, he was elected President. He was the first President voted.

He needed to guard the country. He had to come up with the rules on how to be a President and how they should act. He was President for more than eight years. He was a commander during the American Revolution. He had lost all his teeth, and had some new ones made from wood.

George Washington was sometimes called "The Father Of America" because he had done a lot for his country. His face is on the American quarter and dollar bill. Washington D.C. is named after him. A sculpture of him is made in Mount Rushmore. Two years later, he died of throat disease.
